Higher '81 Property Tax Bills Have Many Borough Homeowners Upset

What a hungry gypsy moth caterpillar does to a tree is nothing to what a tax bill can do to your bank account.

The advice from Assessor Stuart Robson Jr.: file an appeal with the Mercer County Board of Taxation.

Borough taxpayers got theirs last week, and so far, over 50 have called the tax office to howl. Township taxpayers can look in the mailbox any day now.

In the Borough, property-owners had forgotten the prophetic utterances of Borough Council member Robert McChesney last spring (TOWN TOPICS, April 8). He warned that tax bills would show a breathtaking amount due in August and November, but a lower amount in February and May. The reasons are bound up in the way New Jersey makes you pay your taxes.

But in the Borough, your tax bill is also linked to revaluation. Some houses have sextupled in value. It's because the Borough waited so long — 17 years — between revaluations, apparently fearful of exactly what has happened, but the blow, Mr. Robson points out, would have been softer if revaluation had been done many years ago. Today, Borough property-owners find themselves with $600, or even $1,400 more per year in taxes.

"The biggest complaints are from older people in the 'tree' streets," Mr. Robson says. He is referring to homes on Maple, Spruce, Pine, Chestnut, Linden, once valued at $15,000 and now, perhaps, assessed at $90,000. "In that neighborhood, taxes could have doubled — from $1,100 to $2,200."

Here's what he suggests:

Call the County Board of Taxation (989-6704) and ask for an appeal form. Fill it out and mail it in. You have until August 15.

Take a copy of the filled-out form (It comes in triplicate) to the tax office in Borough Hall (or the tax office in the Valley Road Building, if you live in the Township and decide to appeal after your bill arrives.)

Mr. Robson will go over your appeal with a representative of P.R.C. Jacobs, the firm that did the revaluation. He will then get in touch with you if he thinks you have made your case, and will suggest a cut in your bill.

If you agree on the amount, the Borough will file with the county a consent appeal; in effect, taking your side. This means you won't have to go to the county hearing, and the county will probably approve the cut.

If you don't agree, then the hearing will take its course. The county may decide in your favor, or not. Hearing notices will probably be sent out this fall.

Landscaping Details Unveiled by Collins In First Meeting before Planning Board

Landscaping details--although not yet the Latin names because planting specifics haven't gone that far--were explained to the Planning Board Monday night at the first of three public hearings on Collins Development's proposals for Palmer Square.

A second meeting will be held this Thursday at 7:30 in the Valley Road Building and a third next Monday, same time and place. And, public should be warned, same lack of air conditioning.

Collins' vice-president James Harvie emphasized on Monday that overall plans must "work" financially, and that Collins has "rigid guidelines for financing and economics." Arthur Collins, one of the firm's two principals, said he regarded the present, revised plans as "no longer a concept, but a strong preliminary plan."

Collins needs from the Planning Board approval of its PCD (Planned Community Development) plan and its preliminary site plan.

Landscape architect Morgan Wheelock described a "white" theme for the Square: delicate white furniture and awnings for the Nassau Inn's south terrace; heavy teak benches painted white; white umbrellas minus the traditional flowery lining; white vending carts ...

"Just what did you have in mind," asked board president Margen Penick in a voice that lowered the room temperature by about 30 degrees, "when you said 'vending machines?' "

"I didn't mean 'vending machines'!" exclaimed Mr. Wheelock in some dismay. "I meant vending carts--white carts where you buy flowers, fruit ..."

Plans show an "entrance" at Tiger Park, making the whole Square visible from that point. After considerable misunderstanding--board member Constance Greiff assured Mr. Wheelock that Tiger Park was well used, and important to people who might not necessarily want to enter the Square at all--the Park's future was clarified by Mr. Harvie.

Jewelry Store Owner, Held at Gun Point, Manages to Alert Police and Foil Robbery

A Witherspoon Street store owner who admits that she was shaking inside but didn't get panicky is largely responsible for the apprehension and arrest last Thursday of two men who robbed her at gun point and tied her up.

"I was really shook up and in tears. But even though I had a gun at my head, I was determined not to let them get away," recalled Juliana Drong, owner of Jewels by Juliana, 16 Witherspoon Street.

"If you lose your cool you cannot think with your mind; you have to keep under control. How I did it I don't know. I didn't know if I was going to get my head blown off. Somebody was with me."

Arrested inside her shop by police were James Reynolds, 28, and Robert J. Mason, 29, both of Trenton. Charged with armed robbery and possession of stolen property, the two were arraigned before Borough Judge Russell W. Annich Jr. and later taken to the Mercer County Detention Center to await bail setting by a County Judge.

A third suspect, who had stood guard outside the small shop, managed to escape on foot. However, Chief Michael Carnevale said Tuesday that "I'm rather confident that an arrest will be forthcoming."

A .357 magnum pistol, which police recovered after one of the suspects had tried to discard it in a waste basket in a rear bathroom, was found to have been stolen during a robbery in Trenton.

Robbery

Police recovered $2,428 worth of jewelry that the robbers had scooped up before they were interrupted. "The victim was fortunate in being able to alert us by sounding a silent alarm," said Chief Carnevale.

"I knew it was trouble as soon as they came in," recalled Mrs. Drong, who recognized them as two who had been walking up and down in front of the store the previous day. One of the suspects had come in, she said, and inquired if she pierced ears and wanted to know what time his wife could come in. She also recognized one as the same man who had used a stolen credit card to purchase a $120 gold necklace on June 25.

"I tried to alert the police but they grabbed me right away from behind the counter," Mrs. Drong continued. As they grabbed her they pulled socks over their faces.

She reported that the one armed with the pistol stuck it in her face and told her, "Shut up and don't do anything or I'll shoot you." He demanded the keys to the jewelry cabinets.

"Don't Shoot Me." "Take anything you want. Don't shoot me. I have four kids. I was pleading with them" Mrs. Drong recalled. Then, she said, he gave the gun to the other suspect and told her that he was going to tie her up.

Mrs. Drong convinced them that if they took her into the rear room she would be missed. She persuaded them to tie her hands and feet but let her remain sitting at her desk. While she was at the desk she managed to press a silent alarm.

Meanwhile a customer tried to enter, Mrs. Drong continued, but the third suspect barred her way and told her the store was closed. The customer told a policeman that something was wrong.

Back in the store, the robbers became suspicious of Mrs. Drong's movements and dragged her behind a curtain to a small rear room, her hands and feet still tied with electrical cord.

"The safe was open and they grabbed all they could," she said. " 'Where's your money?' they demanded. I told them I had none–that my daughter had just made a bank deposit. All the time I was praying, 'Oh, Lord, let the police come.'

"I didn't resist. I only tried to talk to them. The more I stalled them the more I knew the police would come.

Police Arrive. Sgt. Peter Hanley and Ptl. Randy Sutton converged on the scene in separate patrol cars. "They were trapped like mice; there was no way out," Mrs. Drong said.

"I was still tied up when all this was taking place. I told them 'watch it, one has a gun!' The other went to the bathroom and tried to hide the gun."

Sgt. Hanley apprehended one of the suspects; the second fled to the rear of the store where he was subdued by Ptl. Sutton. Both were handcuffed and taken to police headquarters.

Dispute over Sewer Odor Reaches Superior Court

An Alice-in-Wonderland scenario, with strong overtones of Abbott and Costello, will be played out this Friday in Superior Court.

The Princeton Regional Health Commission, which consists of Borough and Township and is represented by the law firm of Mason, Griffin and Pierson, has sued the Stony Brook Regional Sewerage Authority, of which Borough and Township are members, because of a bad smell around the Lower Alexander Street sewer metering station.

Sniffing the same bad odor, the Sewerage Authority filed suit against the Sewer Operating Committee, which consists of Borough, Township and Princeton University and whose counsel is Mason, Griffin and Pierson.

The Authority says the SOC's lines, and not its metering station, are at fault.

Lawrence Rosen, a Princeton resident, and Princeton University, which is a member of the Sewer Operating Committee, filed as interested parties in the Health Commission-Authority suit and asked to be included.

Needless to say, the SOC has found another lawyer.

The court's problem: whose responsibility is it to fix things so the bad smell goes away permanently?

On July 2, the court said temporary measures had to be taken, and they have been: the Authority by-passed the sewage flow into the old sewer line.

Meanwhile, the Authority was waiting for its consultants' report, due July 13. The court suggested that when the report came in, all parties sit down and try to reach a mutually acceptable engineering solution. This meeting took place Monday.

SOC sanitary engineer (and Borough engineer) George Olexa, agrees with Authority engineers that an air by-pass--sending the foul air out by a pipe--would be a good idea, along with smoke-testing. Apparently the Lower Alexander Street metering station is the place where the sewer dead-ends and gases get trapped.

Originally, the Health Commission took the Authority to Township Court and Judge Sydney Souter ruled that his court did indeed have jurisdiction, although the Authority disagreed.

Because the problem seemed urgent, the Health Commission then bypassed Judge Souter's court and went to Superior Court, fearing tht the Authority might not accept a municipal court decision and the case might drag on, along with the fumes.

The real question: who's the defendant around here?

TO HEAR APPEAL

At Township Committee. Because the new meeting room in the Valley Road building lacks the air conditioning of the old Township Hall, Township Committee held its regular meeting in its former location last week and will do so again this Wednesday. The time is 8 p.m.

Committee will hear the appeal by neighbors and the Northeast Neighborhood Association for relief from a Planning Board decision granting approval to Princeton Professional Park but requesting review of the traffic situation in five years.

This will be the second time that the neighbors have appealed this proposed three-building complex for medicaf office. Earlier this year the neighbors questioned the advisability of the entrances and exits onto Ewing Street and whether Planning Board members had had a chance to read thoroughly a traffic impact study. Committee ordered a remand to the Planning Board just on the question of traffic.

In late April, after a number of tie votes, the Planning Board reached the decision that the neighbors are challenging as being "against the weight of evidence."

Committee will also hold public hearings on ordinances to reduce the speed limit on Bunn Drive from 50 to 40 m.p.h. and to prohibit parking on Redding Circle and Drive. The Mercer Road-Quaker Bridge intersection will be discussed, as well as the odor problem at the Alexander Street sewer meter station and the New Jersey Transit's proposal to discontinue the inner and outer loop buses in Princeton.

Committee has scheduled an extra meeting this month on Wednesday, July 22, as a work session on a proposed draft of a high density ordinance and the proposed hospital zoning district. Both proposals are recommendations of the 1980 Master Plan that are awaiting enactment into law.

WHERE'S 92 BYPASS?

Far, Far Away. "It's very discouraging — we just have to wait," sighed Borough Mayor Robert W. Cawley in an uncharacteristic mood of pessimism, as he talked about last Friday's meeting on a 92-A bypass around Princeton.

If Federal officials "de-designate" I-95 — not to be confused with 92-A — the money once assigned to that interstate can be used for other transportation purposes, and half a dozen communities in the Princeton area want it to be used for at least the part of 92-A that goes from Montgomery Township around Princeton to Route One. Even better, Mayor Cawley remarked, would be an extension to the Turnpike.

Transportation Commissioner Louis Gambaccini agreed Friday to include all of 92-A in his list of things the freed I-95 money might be spent for, but Mayor Cawley said he himself was deeply worried about funding.

Friday's meeting, called by Mercer County Freeholder Barbara Sigmund, was attended by Mayor Cawley, Township Mayor Josie Hall, Borough Council member Barbara Hill and representatives of West Windsor, East Windsor, South Brunswick, Plainsboro, Cranbury, Montgomery, Hightstown, Lawrence, the Middlesex-Somerset-Mercer Regional Study Council and a deputy commissioner of the State Department of Transportation.

ff de-designation doesn't produce money for 92-A Mayor Cawley reported, it will be obtained "somewhere else," but he didn't say where or by whom. He said he didn't foresee anything for "two or three years."

Meanwhile, the mayor said, brightening a little, the contract has been let for the required Environmental Impact Study on the whole stretch of 92-A, from Montgomery to Route 33.

TRUCK LOSES WHEEL-ALMOST: "It was making a noise and all of a sudden I just couldn't shift. I was lucky the wheel didn't come off altogether," said the driver of this heating and air-conditioning supply truck which almost lost its rear wheel Tuesday afternoon on Beyerd Lane near Paul Robeson Place. Sgt. Thomas Procaccino directed traffic until the truck could be towed.

Like it to'

Yes, the days
Are good and hot.
But who likes summer
When it's not?

Hot weather fans have had their fill so far this month, but it's getting tough to cool off in the pool or even the ocean where the water temperature has been holding in the low 70's. Talk about a big bathtub ...

The rest of this week will see a little moderation in temperatures from middle 90's to middle 80's, with humidity gradually creeping upward. Except for the chance of a late afternoon thundershower, there is not much chance of any significant rain.

TO DESIGN GARAGE

$105,000 Ordinance. Before you break ground for a parking garage, you need a design, and Borough Council scheduled for introduction this Tuesday a $105,000 bond ordinance to pay for design of the proposed 240-car garage on Spring and Tulane.

Who will design the structure still is not known. It's a question of whether the Borough's contract with parking garage architect John Fujiwara is still in force. His proposals were rejected by the Planning Board in 1978, through no fault of his, and this may mean that the contract is still in effect. Borough attorney Edwin Schmierer will render an opinion.

BUILDING EVACUATED

When Chemical Fumes Escape. Approximately 75 persons were evacuated from the Princeton University computer center on Prospect Avenue last week as a precautionary measure when chemical fumes began leaking from a delivery truck.

According to police, Michael Joachim of Trenton, a truck driver for the New Brunswick firm of Hermann Forwarding Co., had stopped at the loading dock to deliver some electrical cables. When he opened the truck door, he smelled fumes and began to gasp.

A two-litre container of an industrial ether used to clean computers, known as glyme, had apparently toppled over, allowing fumes to escape from an improperly sealed cap.

Sgt. Peter Hanley and Ptl. Randy Sutton responded to a 9:56 call. They requested the First Aid Unit and had the Environmental Protection Agency notified. Mr. Joachim and two employees of the computer center were taken to Princeton Medical Center to be checked for inhalation of fumes. All were later released.

Fumes from the throat-irritating glyme, which was to be delivered to E.R. Squibb & Sons in Lawrenceville, allegedly spread into the computer center basement, causing one employee to vomit. At 11:49, William Dargay Jr. of the Dept. of Environmental Protection checked the spill and the truck was able to continue.

MOYNAHAN TO ZONING

Board May Postpone. Site plan recommendations for the 14-unit project planned by Elizabeth Moynahan for 251 Bayard Lane are on the agenda for the July 22 meeting of the Township Zoning Board. The meeting will be held at 7:30 in the Valley Road Building.

When the Moynahan proposals were last before the Zoning Board, they were turned down. She appealed to Township Committee and won. Neighbors have brought suit, however, and since the matter is in litigation, the Zoning Board may decide to wait and see how the matter comes out in the courts. Decision will be made at the July 22 meeting.

NEVER LIKE THIS

Parked Cars Scratched. "It's inconceivable. We always get acts of criminal mischief but not like this one," commented Chief Michael Carnevale Tuesday as he described the vandalism last week to ten parked cars.

In virtually every case, the vandalism was the same: the entire surface of the car scratched with a sharp instrument. Four of the cars were parked in the Palmer Square lot off Hulfish and the rest in the Chambers-Hulfish lot.

While Chief Carnevale said that he had not received any damage estimates, he added that "It's got to be significant." Eight of the victims are Princeton residents, two are from Lawrenceville.

Bush is Candidate

Leslie Bush, 33 Tupelo Row, 1964 Olympic diving gold medalist, will run for Township Committee this fall on the Democratic ticket. She was chosen by Township Democrats to replace David Klein, who withdrew for personal reasons.

Ms. Bush was a Princeton High School classmate of Alen Medvin, her running-mate in this fall's race. They were graduated from PHS in 1965. Taking a year out for the 1968 Olympics, Ms. Bush entered Indiana University and was graduated from there in 1970, with a biology major.

She is now in her fifth year as a teacher at West Windsor-Plainsboro High School. She teaches seventh and eighth grade science, and high school biology. This summer, she is coaching diving at the Cranbury Swim Club.

FINE LEVIED

In Espionage Matter. Werner R. Hilpert, 15 Hemlock Circle, was fined $10,000 and sentenced to three years' probation last week in Baltimore for the part he is said to have played in a conspiracy regarding espionage equipment.

A microwave surveillance receiver, about the size of a television set, was bought by Mr. Hilpert for about $47,000 in Baltimore last August. In January, it was seized by Federal agents in Kennedy International Airport from luggage checked on board a flight for West Germany by a Rolf P. Herms.

Federal officials said that neither Mr. Hilpert nor Mr. Herms had obtained the required Federal export license and permission from the State Department for export. The receiver is listed as a defense article and may not be exported without that license and written permission. The instrument is said to be capable of monitoring the transmissions of U.S. spy satellites.

The head mao in the conspiracy is reportedly Volker Nast, a citizen of West Germany, who has been indicted in the United States but is said to be at large in West Germany.

Mr. Hilpert was charged with helping Herms. Both men apparently received light sentences because they cooperated with the investigation of Nast. Federal authorities believe Nast planned to ship the receiver to a Communist-bloc nation.

Federal lawyers believe Mr. Hilpert became involved in the export attempt without realizing it was against the law and did not extricate himself after he knew it was illegal. He told the Federal judge he regretted what he had done and "meant no harm" to the U.S. government.

TYPEWRITER STOLEN

From Red Cross Building. An electric typewriter, valued at $1,000, has been stolen from the American Red Cross building, 182 N. Harrison Street.

Police report that entry was gained through an unlocked cellar door on the north side of the building. The theft was reported Monday morning.

A room in Lambert House, the nurses' quarters at Princeton Medical Center, was entered last week between 7:30 in the morning and 4:45 in the afternoon. Taken from a dresser was $300. There was no forced entry.

Approximately $30 worth of liquor was removed last week from a room in Foulke Hall on the Princeton University campus. Again, no forced entry, police said.

DRIVER LOSES LICENSE

For Drunk Driving. In Borough traffic court Monday, Jennifer Sparks, 63 Deerpath, had her license revoked for 90 days and was fined $225 for drunken driving. In addition, she paid $35 on a second violation--failure to stop for a red light.

Judge Russell W. Annich Jr. fined three for careless driving. Lois G. Blanchard, Bolfmar Avenue, Cranbury, and George R. Taylor, 11 Quarry Street, each paid $30, while Madeline M. Katz, 61 Adams Drive, was fined $25. An improper turn cost Constance M. Johnston, 210 Harrison Street, $40.

Fined $20 each for red light infractions were Janardhan Manickam, 4 Alyce Court, Lawrenceville, and Erik B. Granade, 161 Longview Drive. Others: H. Brian Wishne, 403A Devereux Avenue, $25, improper display of plates; Terry Griffith, 7 Garretson Lane, Belle Mead, $38, speeding, and Jean E. Wilson, 210 Constitution Drive, $15, no license or registration in possession.

WELL WATER SAFE

In Rocky Hill. The Rocky Hill well is now producing water that is safe to drink. At 8 a.m. last Sunday, the line serving Rocky Hill's 917 residents was reconnected and the community will no longer have to buy from Elizabethtown Water at $5,500 per month.

The well was closed in November, 1979, as a health hazard, contaminated by 248 parts of trichloroethylene (TCE) per billion. The level of unsafety is 50 parts per billion. The well now tests at five parts per billion.

The source of TCE, an industrial de-greasing agent, was never discovered, although tests were made over a long period of months. The well has been pumped continually, and contamination levels have been dropping throughout the past year and a half.

CHAPLIN, SELLERS

Separately. They say that "Modern Times," one of the last American silent films, is still the most popular of all the films of Charlie Chaplin. "Being There" is the next-to-the-last film made by the late Peter Sellers.

The two will be combined by Summer Cinema for the fifth week of movies at Kresge Auditorium on Washington Road (air-conditioned, of course). The double bill will play this Wednesday through Sunday.

This Friday and Saturday, Summer Cinema will screen the first of its "Pre-Midnight Movies" at 11:30. The movie will be the comedy, "Airplane," a satire on movies like "Zero Hour" or "Airport." (Separate admission for pre-midnight shows will be charged, and regular discount coupons will not be valid.)

"Modern Times" was made in 1936, as a comic comment on mass production and the way it affects the lives of ordinary factory workers. This is the one in which Chaplin goes berserk on the assembly line, the one where he plays a night watchman on roller skates, the one where he's the guinea pig for an automatic feeding machine.

"Being There" has Sellers as a gardener who has spent his entire life gardening and watching television. It is from TV that he has gained his entire knowledge of the world around him. When he is thrown into the real world, his naivete is mistaken for wisdom, and politicians, businessmen and women flock to him for insight and guidance.

IN MIDDLESEX ...

Moliere. "Scapino," the Moliere farce, opens this Wednesday at The Foothill Playhouse in Middlesex, and is scheduled to play Wednesdays through Saturdays at 8:40 through July 25.

Bob Stevens, now in his 21st season with Foothill, is directing. He was in charge of "Taming of the Shrew," "The Children's Hour" and others in his years at the playhouse.

Scapino, the rogue, will be played by Lou Jacob, who last appeared at Foothill as Moliere's Tartuffe. Denise Perrote will play Giacinta, her Foothill debut role. Dennis Freeland, who played in Foothill's "One Flew Over the Cuckoo's Nest," will be Argante.

Others in Foothill debut performances will be Karen Boyle, Gary Castellano, Myles Fifick, Dirk Keysser, Bill Halhovsky and Dennis Ross.

Ticket information may be obtained between 4 and 9 p.m., Tuesdays through Saturdays, at 201-356-0462. The playhouse is on Beechwood Avenue in Middlesex.

School. You've seen their poster, the one that says "Contemplating suicide? See The Natives, Thursday, July 16 ... etc." It got at least one resident worried enough to take the poster to the police.

You may have attended The Natives' pre-concert last Thursday, given because they were eager to drum up business and test the amphitheatre. About 250 people attended, and the posters had only gone up the day before.

The next concert, Thursday, July 23, will be Mainstream, and soloist Arthur Rhames,

CONCERTS LISTED

At Choir College. The week of July 19-23 at Westminster Choir College will feature two piano concerts, a recital of varied music played on the hammered dulcimer, and the latest works for two pianos from the labors of Westminster composer, William Cheadle.

Starting the week's events on Sunday is a chamber recital at 8 in Bristol Chapel by Sharon Alexander, soprano, and Thomas Purviance, piano. The program includes J.S. Bach's "Wedding Cantata" (No. 202) and Mozart's Piano Concerto No. 12 (K. 414), both of which will use an orchestra conducted by Nancy Freed, a 1976 graduate of Westminster. Also included in the program is a set of songs by Liszt, with Mr. Purviance accompanying Ms. Alexander.

Marian Zarzeczna, a teacher in the Conservatory Division at Westminster, will give a concert on Monday featuring Prokofiev's Piano Concerto No. 3. Sandra Pucciatti will play the orchestral reduction. The concert begins at 7 p.m. in the Playhouse.

On that same evening, Erik Routley will lead another of his "Hymn Sings" held weekly in Bristol at 8. The theme will be "Hymns Interpreting the Story of the Prodigal Son."

Tuesday, July 21, will feature a piano recital by Calvin Jay Rozendaal, a senior at Westminster in piano performance. His program, to be held in the Playhouse at 7, will include a set of Scarlatti sonatas, Beethoven's Sonata Op. 109, the Symphonic Etudes of Schumann, and the Piano Concerto No. 1 of Liszt. His teacher, William Cheadle, will play the piano reduction of the orchestral part.

At 8 in Bristol, Allen Crowell will conduct Mendelssohn's "Elijah" as Westminster continues its "Summer Sings" series. Scores will be provided, but personal copies may be used. Mr. Crowell is associate professor of conducting at Westminster, where he is conductor of the college's Oratorio Choir and the Westminster Singers.

While most recitals and concerts at Westminster are either of a vocal or keyboard nature, there are occasions when something out of the ordinary is offered. Such is the case on Wednesday, July 22, when Lucille Hardgrove Reilly, a 1974 graduate of Westminster, will present a recital on the hammered dulcimer. Ms. Reilly, a self-styled interpreter of the instrument, will play a variety of music ranging from fiddle tunes and old popular songs to arrangements of Broadway hits, hymns and art songs. The recital begins at 7 in Williamson Lounge.

Later that evening, Suzan Pratt, a soprano and assistant professor of voice at the college, will sing works by Poulenc, Saint Saens, Vaughan Williams, Warlock and Walton. Marvin Keenze, also a Westminster voice teacher, will accompany Ms. Pratt at the piano. The program begins at 8 in Bristol Chapel.

The week will conclude with two concerts on Thursday, July 23. The participants in the Handbell Workshop II, under the direction of Robert Ivey, will present an informal Handbell Concert at 7 in Bristol. Mr. Ivey is presently the Minister of Music at the First Presbyterian Church in Red Bank.

Finally, at 8 in the Playhouse, Westminster will present an Evening of Music and Humor with William and Louise Cheadle and the special guest, Llib von Eldaehc. Featured in the recital will be Mr. Cheadle's most recent creation for two pianos, the "Froot Suite," including Apple Aria, Peach Pavane, Banana Bounce, Raspberry Rag, and Pineapple Polka. Mrs. Cheadle is director of the Conservatory Division and Mr. Cheadle is professor of piano and Westminster Choir College.

All events are open to the public at no charge.

TO HONOR BARTOK

At Choir College. A major four-day festival will be held on the campus of Westminster Choir College in Princeton from November 19 to November 22 to celebrate the 100th anniversary of the birth of composer, Bela Bartok.

The festival is being coordinated by Dr. Harriet Chase, professor of theory at the college and a Bartok specialist. The festival will open with a keynote address by the musicologist, Benjamin Suchoff, who is a trustee of the American Bartok Archives. Dr. Suchoff will also give a commentary and introduction to Bartok works performed on other programs in the festival.

Other guests performing at the festival will include violist, Paul Doktor; the Chester String Quartet; percussionists, Richard Ecton and William Richards; violinist, Geofrey Michaels, and the American Boychoir. Performances by the Westminster "family" will include participation by several of the college's choirs, piano and vocal faculty members, college students and students in the Westminster Conservatory division.

SOLOISTS ANNOUNCED

For "War Requlem." Robert Shaw, the dean of American choral conductors, has announced that Jean Herzberg, soprano, Gene Tucker, tenor, and David Ford, bass, will be the soloists in the performance of the "War Requiem" by Benjamin Britten on Friday, July 31, at 8 in the Princeton University Chapel.

The public is invited free of charge. Reserved section seats for $5 each are available by calling 924-7416. (No reserved section seats will be available at the door.)

The work calls for a large mixed chorus, boychoir and orchestra. Nancianne Parrella will play the University Chapel organ. The choral parts will be sung by the members of the Robert Shaw Workshop, who have come together for the last ten years to sing and learn under the baton of a master.

All the singers are professional and many are graduates of Westminster Choir College who are now working as singers and conductors all over the country."

Written in 1962, the "War Requiem" is based on poems by Wilfred Owen, who died in World War I, and the liturgy of the Mass for the Dead. It is at once a testament to the futility of war along with the formal expression of mourning by means of a ritualistic mass.

TWO CONCERTS PLANNED

At Trinity Church. Trinity Church announces two midsummer concerts to be presented at the church at 33 Mercer Street. A program of music by English composers will be presented by the choir and chamber orchestra of St. Mary's Cathedral, Edinburgh, Scotland on Wednesday, July 22, at 8; and an organ concert will be performed by Roman Cantieni, young virtuoso organist from Chur, Switzerland, on Monday, August 3, at 8.

The 45-voice choir and orchestra from St. Mary's Cathedral, Edinburgh, under the direction of Dennis Townhill, will present works by Byrd, Gibbons, Purcell, Elgar and Kenneth Leighton in their last concert during an American tour before returning to Scotland. Mr. Cantieni will play works by Bach, Messiaen and Liszt on the four manual mechanical action Trinity organ.

Both concerts will be free, but an offering will be received to help defray concert expenses. The public is invited.

SPACE AVAILABLE

In Music Camp. The American Boychoir School has opened its summer camp session, called Albemarle. The second session of the camp will begin on Friday, July 19 and run through August 1.

The Albemarle program is built around choral singing for all campers, supplemented by an extensive recreational program. Instrumental lessons are also offered; for those not taking instrumental lessons, Orff workshops are available. The program is designed to excite children about music and singing and to help them learn or improve their singing skills and performance techniques.

The Camp Chorus, in which all boys and girls take part, meets twice daily and presents a program at the end of each session. The camp is directed by Anton Armstrong, who also serves as chorus director. Mr. Armstrong holds a bachelor's degree in vocal performance from St. Olaf's College in Minnesota and a master's degree in conducting from the University of Illinois.

All campers take the crafts program and enjoy a variety of sports and activities. The facilities at the Boychoir School include 18 acres of grounds, playing fields, a creek, an outdoor swimming pool and all the musical facilities of the Boychoir School--pianos, practice rooms nad rehearsal rooms.

Enrollment is still open for the second session. Further information may be obtained by calling the camp office at 924-5858.

who will play saxophone, piano and guitar. On July 30, virtuoso guitarist Stanley Jordan, Princeton University Class of '81, will give a solo recital.

On Thursday, August 6, The Groceries will present an evening of music and dancing. The Groceries are a group of University graduates.

The Natives play their own compositions and those of other musicians. They warn that their music is energetic and loud punk, characterized by a return to the raw basics of rock.

"We don't exactly sing about raindrops and romance," they say, and Ted Irenas, the leader, adds, "We may be only 15 but we're mean."

Our stock upholstery. It's the best buy for the money.

ALL STOCK UPHOLSTERY ON SPECIAL SALE THROUGH AUGUST 9.

There's a simple way to make upholstery. Use inexpensive materials, cut corners, and run it off a giant assembly line. And if you start with a decent design, it will probably look O.K. For a while. But it won't hold up. And it probably won't be very comfortable.

But there is another way.

It's called semi-custom made. And it doesn't use a mass production assembly line. But it does use various line techniques where they save money. And it also uses individual specialists who each work on a given task. Perfectly. But fast. And very efficiently. And this is how we make our exclusive stock upholstery.

Then, to further cut costs, we don't give you a huge choice of sizes. Or fabrics. Or options. All of which results in great savings.

Now that we've told you what you don't get, let us tell you what you do. Which is why we believe this is the best upholstery buy for the money anywhere.

THE FRAME.

Solid oak or maple (not cheaper softwood) is used for strength and to prevent warping. All joints are double doweled. The frame is screwed, glued and corner blocked to prevent cracking.

THE SPRINGS.

We use only 8 gauge, tempered steel sinuous springs. And each spring is attached front and back by special helical clips which actually keep the springs "springier" for a longer time. What's more these same springs are also used on the back (unlike most upholstery at even far higher prices). It takes time, but in time it proves its worth.

THE PADDING.

It's extraordinary. We not only use extra padding on the interior, but we also pad the exterior surfaces. This means that the wood frame is completely protected. The results? More comfort. And more durability. Because upholstery fabric stretched directly over hard wood edges wears out faster.

THE CUSHIONS.

Both seat and back cushions are made of a core of polyurethane foam wrapped in Dacron® polyester. When you sit, your weight is on the seat cushions. So these have a higher proportion of foam. The backs, which should be softer for more comfort, have more polyester. And all the cushions are wrapped in non-woven fabric to prevent the outer fabric from wrinkling or lumping.

THE SEWING.

Wherever possible (and this means 80% of the time), double needle stitching is used. It can take up to three times as long as single needle stitching, but it gives us very straight, very even seams. And the superior tailoring not only looks better, it wears far longer.

THE STYLES.

Because upholstery is a serious investment, we don't believe in fancy or faddish designs that look fine one year and dated the next. So we offer a limited number of classic modern pieces all with clean, uncluttered lines. You'll find chairs, loveseats, sofas, sleepers and ottomans. And, as we mentioned, options are available but kept at a minimum to cut down on costs.

THE FABRICS.

Not a huge choice. But a terrific one. And more than half of them, including our best-selling cotton print, velvet, and Haitian cotton, are available at the lowest prices. And all fabrics are Scotchguarded® for extra protection at no extra cost.

Workbench stock upholstery. It's ours and we believe it's the best buy for your money anywhere.

WE CALL IT OUR STOCK UPHOLSTERY BECAUSE MOST STYLES ARE IN STOCK.

LET'S TALK ABOUT

The Ravages of the Storm!
with Sam De Turo
Woodwinds Associates

Violent thunder storms can do more damage than ever to our trees, which have been weakened by drought, winter-injury, and insect infestation ... when the skies clear, repair your fractured trees at once!

All "hangers" (or broken branches still up in the tree) should be removed. "Trace" the area of torn bark in a round or oval shape, covering the entire area which has separated from the trunk. This way, the tree itself can heal over the wound.

While pruning, re-shape the damaged tree to its natural symmetry; long branches can be trimmed to alleviate excess weight, and weak limbs should be cabled and braced to strengthen against damage in future storms. Proper pruning will throw new strength into the remaining parts of the tree.

Not all storm damage is apparent to the naked eye ... roots may have been wrenched and torn; there may be cracks in the bark of smaller branches and twigs, which then become invasion points for fungi and insects such as Carpenter Ants ...

In order to revitalize the storm-battered tree, and as an aid in the tree's own sealing and healing process, feed liberally, and soon. This way, the tree is prepared to withstand the future storms of the season, and also fight off insect and disease attacks.

WOODWINDS is always happy to answer any questions you have concerning your valuable trees and shrubs ... please call us at 924-3500.

IT'S ABOUT TIME TO TALK AIR CONDITIONING

Discussing your air conditioning needs with a fuel company makes more sense than you might realize.

First of all, we know what we're talking about. Air conditioning is all part of our service. We can survey your requirements, design you a system, and install it completely.

Furthermore, we do it all ourselves. More and more fuel suppliers are passing service and air conditioning problems on to outside contractors.

Not us. We have our own highly-trained staff ready to take care of everything from air conditioning to plumbing. And we'll still be here when you need us whether its next month, next year or five years from now. That's important, too.

So whether you want to talk about a complete central air conditioning installation or service on your existing system, give us a call.

We'll help you get what you want without losing your cool.

THEFT REPORT

$1,500 Scale, More Meters. A $1,500 scale was stolen and more parking meters were rifled, in thefts reported by Princeton police last week.

A digital readout scale was reported missing Sunday morning from the Biochemical Lab on the university campus and more parking meters were discovered emptied Monday in the Palmer Square East yard, the small lot behind the Post Office building. Police report that a key was used to open the meters. They were rifled some time between 7:45 Saturday morning and the same time Monday when the theft was discovered. An inventory is being taken to determine how much was taken.

There were two wallet thefts reported on the same day last week. A Chambers Street office worker lost $75 when someone removed his wallet from his jacket, which he had hung in the office. It was later recovered in a men's room minus the money.

A Lawrenceville resident told police that someone had stolen her wallet from her book bag, which she had left unattended in a reading area in the public library. Ptl. Donald Dawson later recovered the wallet in a rest room. Everything was intact except for $2.

When a Rosedale Road resident parked his car in the Princeton Shopping Center early last week, he discovered upon his return in the afternoon that someone had stolen the alternator from the engine compartment. It is valued at $80.

A Honda motorcycle valued at $1,000 was stolen last week from the rear of the Campus Club, 5 Prospect Avenue. Bearing Oregon license plate, MI-96557, the 1975 cycle is owned, police report, by a resident of the club.

An Overbrook Drive resident discovered that her locked car had been broken into Friday night after she had parked in the pool lot at Community Park. Missing are a $60 AM-FM cassette tape recorder, a $4 tape and a $2 beach bag which contained her wallet. Inside were credit cards and $4.50. Police said that a side window had been smashed to enter the car.

Bicycle Exchange. A Cedar Lane resident told police Sunday that someone had taken his 10-speed bicycle from in front of a Stockton Street home and left another, less expensive bicycle in its place. A $250, 10-speed model was also stolen last week from an unlocked garage on Dickinson Street.

After a bicycle had been stolen from a Jefferson Road home Thursday, the owner saw it being ridden in the area of Witherspoon Street and Henry Avenue. He reclaimed his bike and the Borough juvenile officer is in the process of charging a Township youth, who allegedly took the bike.

A similar incident took place in the Township, where a Birch Avenue resident told police that he observed a youth stealing his bike from a Community Park pool bike rack. His $115 bicycle was recovered in the Princeton Shopping Center.

The suspect, a 14-year old Red Oak Row youth, was turned over to his parents and faces a hearing in juvenile court.

EVENT PLANNED

By Bicycle Touring Club. The Princeton Free Wheelers, a bicycle touring club formed in March, will hold its first "Event" Sunday, rain or shine. The day will consist of six touring rides of varying lengths.

There will be two Century rides of 100 miles each, one hilly and one relatively flat; two 50-mile rides, one hilly, one flat; a 25-mile ride with terrain varying from flat to hilly; and a novice "Fun Ride," fairly short and over mostly flat terrain within Princeton's borders. Anyone owning a bicycle that qualifies for road use by the state--a two-wheel vehicle with a seat at least 25 inches from the ground to the top of the seat--may participate in the Fun Ride, which will have a leader.

There are some 50 people who have pre-registered, but participants may also register on the day of the event. The starting location is the

Two Years' Time, Some Warm Debate, Now Clock-Thermometer Is Approved

When the Big Heat Wave of 1982 hits, a year from now, you'll be able to tell how hot you are by glancing at Nassau Savings and Loan's time-temperature indicator (clock-thermometer, to you.)

N.S. & L. finally received approval from the Planning Board to install the indicator in the courtyard of the firm's new building at 188 Nassau. If time and temperature cooperate, says Walter B. Foster, N.S. & L. president, you'll be using the new installation this fall.

Former N.S. & L. offices at 194 Nassau, always had a clock-thermometer. It told time and temperature with lighted bulbs, which was fine for passers-by but a nuisance for the institution because bulbs were always burning out, and were expensive to replace.

When N.S. & L. applied for a building permit for the new offices, Borough officials rejected the time-temperature column; hopefully, N.S. & L. installed the wiring anyway.

The Borough Zoning Board determined that the new sign was not a "sign" at all, but a "structure," which meant a building permit. Then Planning Board members suggested a different location: why did the 20-inch indicator have to be on an eight-foot pedestal in the courtyard? Why couldn't it be incorporated into a recess near the top of the building? And so on.

"I guess everybody had their own idea," Mr. Foster says philosophically, "but if it was up high people wouldn't be able to see it."

The whole process took about two years. Final designs will be submitted next week to N.S. & L. officials, then things will start to move.

But you won't be reading a heat wave on it until next year.

Discover the Variety English Cheese

The cheeses of England are as distinctive and as full of tradition as the picturesque countryside where they originated. Each has its own individual characteristic. Each reflects the history as much as the subtle differences of the soil, grass, and climate of their specific regions.

Yet all of them appeal to a particularly wide variety of cheese fanciers—young and old, sophisticated or not. English cheeses are indeed versatile.

Prince Charles and Lady Diana called us last week and said that these are the cheeses which will be served at their wedding. WE'RE OFFERING THEM TO YOU NOW AT $1 OFF PER POUND - WHILE SUPPLY LASTS

FIVE RESIDENTS NAMED

As Drumthwacket Fund Raisers. Mr. and Mrs. Edward Crane, Leonard C. Johnson and John M. Tassie, all of Princeton, have been named to the committee conducting the fund-raising campaign to renovate Drumthwacket and convert Morven into a historical center.

Mr. Crane also is a member of the board of trustees and Mr. Johnson of the board of governors of The New Jersey Historical Society, which is spearheading the $4 million fund drive to create a new home for New Jersey governors at Drumthwacket and to maintain Morven, the present governor's home, as a historical center open to the public.

The committee includes 68 prominent professional, business and community leaders. The Society announced in June that it had raised $1 million of its $4 million goal for the project. Of the total, $2 million will be allocated for the renovation and furnishing of Drumthwacket, and $2 million will go for the conversion of Morven.

Drumthwacket's renovation as the future home for New Jersey governors will allow many more civic, charitable and community organizations to meet at the governor's home than Morven can accommodate. With some 55 percent more interior area than Morven and grounds covering 11 acres, it also will serve as an appropriate meeting place for visiting business leaders and dignitaries.

Drumthwacket, the original portion of which was built in 1833 with wings added about 1900, is expected to be ready in January for occupancy by the next governor and his family.

Morven is to be operated by The New Jersey Historical Society as a living house museum, with plans for the addition of a conference center. Its new role will enable it to be better preserved as one of the state's most treasured historic sites than is now possible.

Robert R. Ferguson Jr., president of First National State Bank of New Jersey, is general chairman of the fund-raising campaign. Honorary co-chairmen are former Gov. Richard J. Hughes and Gov. Brendan T. Byrne.

While most of us work at our jobs and go home at night to relax, about 1,200 men and women infringe on their busy work hours and give up evenings to do volunteer work for the United Way — Princeton Area Communities. The question is why do they do it.

The reasons vary. Each volunteer is unique and no generalization can be painted over all of them. But random interviews with volunteers indicate that all believe

"I was asked if I would be on United Way's Budget Committee and that went on until I became assistant chairman of the committee — and here I am now." "Now" means being a member of United Way's Board, chairman of its Long Range Planning Committee and Nominating Committee and chairman of Cyanamid's successful employee solicitation campaign this year.

A Two-Way Street. Other volunteers have had their commitment to United Way reinforced by close personal involvement with the agencies affiliated with United Way. Theresa Govan, Senior Industrial Relations Representative at RCA American Communications in Princeton, is one such person.

"There were times when I worked in Washington, D.C., that I used the services of a United Way agency," she explained. "I went to the Red Cross when I needed blood.

"When my brother was in Vietnam during the war, the Red Cross helped us when his wife had a stillborn baby. It was her first baby, she went into a terrible depression and she needed her husband.

"We went to the Red Cross and even though it was around the time of the Tet offensive in 1968 and my brother was in a war zone and we had no way to communicate with him, the Red Cross cut through the red tape and got him home in about a week. He got a leave and came home — and then he never had to go back."

Assistance Available. But Ms. Govan doesn't think that it was simply her personal experiences that made her into a United Way supporter.

"Even without these personal experiences that made her into a United Way supporter.

"Even without these personal experiences, I would still believe in it. Just knowing that the services are there — for day care, senior citizens, alcoholism, and so on — is good to know. It's good to know that you have somewhere to turn if you need help."

But personal experience is probably the best way for a volunteer to become committed to the cause. Al Bruschini, Manager of Employee Relations and Administration at American Can in Princeton, recalled how the United Way helped some people dear to him.

"I have been helped by United Way. Some people I know that are very close to me were having some severe personal problems and they went to the Hightstown office of Family Service Agency, which is funded by United Way, and they received counseling and were helped. So I have seen how a United Way agency can help those in need."

Too Many Excuses. Volunteers have different viewpoints — some quite strong — toward those people who don't contribute to United Way.

"They are shirking their responsibilities," said Mr. Bruschini. "We have some people who could afford to give but don't give. There are those who have built-in excuses not to give and they will always have excuses."

Other volunteers feel that non-givers are not aware of how they could and should help, as Bernice Tyson, Employee Relations Manager at NL Industries in Hightstown said, "I try not to pass judgment, but I think that for most of us, if we calculate how much money we waste — money that just slips through our fingers and we can't even account for it — we could take that and direct it to United Way where it could help someone.

When Help Is Needed ... "Some non-givers don't bother me at all," said Mr. Gilbert. "I know of one man who won't give to United Way because he tithes at his church, so I know he is doing all he can. There are others who say that charity begins at home. But I think those people don't realize that they probably will need the services of a United Way agency."

One concern that has been raised at United Way — and any organization that depends on volunteers — is that in the "Age of Me" it will become difficult to find volunteers willing to help others. But Ms. Tyson sees a more positive future.

"My perception is the 'me' concept will change because there are too many people who aren't happy with the direction our society is taking," she explained. "I think it will start sinking in that if we are only concerned with ourselves and not others, then we are all going to be losers — big losers."

Perhaps also, as Mr. Gilbert feels, people develop a social conscience and realize that they are, indeed, their brother's keeper.

No More Loop Buses?

N.J. Transit, which has a contract with Mercer Metro for bus service in Mercer, Burlington and Monmouth Counties, is proposing to discontinue certain of its routes because of "a shortfall in available funds." Among the routes to be affected is Princeton's inner and outer loop bus service.

A public hearing has been scheduled Thursday, July 30, at 7:30 in the N.J. State Museum Auditorium, 205 West State Street, Trenton. Mayor Josie Hall and Township Committee will discuss what their official response to this proposed elimination of service will be at Committee's regular meeting this Wednesday at 8.

The Senate has jurisdiction within the Camden Collge of Arts and Sciences over academic matters and serves as an advisory body to the academic dean.

Dr. Showalter is the author of numerous reviews and articles for scholarly journals. His book on "Voltaire et ses amis, 1738-39" was published by The Voltaire Foundation, Oxford, England. A grant from the National Endowment for the Humanities supported his research into the life and works of Madame de Graffigny, the foremost woman of letters in France, and perhaps in Europe, during the mid-18th century.

A graduate of Yale University where he earned his advanced degrees, he also studied at the L'Ecole Normale Superieure under a French Government Fellowship. Dr. Showalter served on the faculties at Haverford College, University of California at Davis and Princeton University prior to his appointment to Rutgers in 1974.

Robert M. Engelbrecht has been selected to serve as a member of the Owens-Corning Fiberglass College of Thermal Knowledge Technical Faculty which is conducting a week long workshop and series of seminars on energy efficient construction technology.

The forerunner of a series of energy efficiency training seminars, this initial project is being attended by a group of about 100 energy experts from all over the continental U.S.A. Mr. Engelbrecht was selected in recognition of his long term service to research and development in the construction field.

Marine Lance Cpl. John D. Easton Jr., son of John D. and Nancy J. Easton of Scotch Road, Box 418, Pennington, is deployed to the Western Pacific. He is a member of Marine Aerial Refueler Transport Squadron 352, based at the Marine Corps Air Station El Toro, Santa Ana, Calif.

He is a co-captain of the varsity water polo team at The Lawrenceville School, where he has earned two varsity letters for water polo and three for swimming. He is a member of the Open Door Society and received the Lawrenceville School German Award and the German Consulate Award for excellence in German.

Dr. Hugo Stange of 19 Hamilton Avenue has been elected president of the Association of Research Directors. He previously served as the Association's secretary-treasurer and vice-president.

Dr. Stange is employed at the Chemical Research and Development Center, FMC Corporation, where he has had various technical management positions for the past 25 years and now serves as Director of Center Technical Department. He is also active in the American Chemical Society serving on the committee of Corporation Associates.

James G. Leech, son of Mr. and Mrs. John G. Leech of 305 Prospect Avenue, and Sabrina K. Plante, daughter of Dr. Inge Plante of Box 1000, have been named to the Dean's List at Ithaca College for the spring semester. They ranked among the top 10 percent in grade point average. Both are students in the School of Humanities and Sciences at Ithaca.

Five Princeton residents have been promoted by Rutgers University. They are Sala S. El-Shakhs, 66 Deerpath, promoted to professor II of Urban Planning and Policy Development at Livingston College; Thomas G. Battlefield Map Restored.
To the Editor of Town Topics:

We are delighted to report that the flag is once again flying at the Princeton Battlefield, and that the tile map of the Battle has been restored. Over a year ago the flag halyards were cut and one of the tiles in the map was stolen.

The State has repaired one of the halyards, and the Princeton Battlefield Area Preservation Society was finally successful (thanks to the assistance of the press) in locating the artist for the tile map, made in 1964. He made a colored drawing of the missing tile, and then it took a long time to find someone who could make a 14 by 15 inch tile, as well as do the art work on it.

The inexcusable vandalism has been very expensive for the Society, but we are proud that the tile map is once again in place for the many visitors to the Battlefield to study and enjoy.

Move Ahead on Housing.
To the Editor of Town Topics:

Following is the text of a letter I have written to the Borough Zoning Board.

The League of Women Voters of Princeton urges the Borough Zoning Board to grant the needed variance on parking spaces so that the Princeton Community Housing Project for the elderly and handicapped at Spring and Tulane Streets can move forward toward completion.

The Board's initial objections on parking appear to have been met since Borough Council has approved plans for a nearby parking garage.

This housing project is an integral part of the total Central Business District Plan which has been carefully worked out over a number of years by public officials and citizen advisory groups. It represents something important to the whole community — that there is still a place in Princeton for long-time residents who have contributed over the years in various ways to the life of the town.

We think it is time to move ahead on this project with Zoning Board approval.

Racial Stereotypes Remain.
To the Editor of Town Topics:

On Saturday July 4th, I experienced one of the most humiliating, and embarrassing events of my life at a Princeton area store. As a lifelong resident of the Princeton community with a good reputation, a mother of two small children, I was appalled at what happened.

My father and I had gone to the store to purchase some fruits, and vegetables. While waiting for my dad (who had gone to another aisle) I overheard the manager (or whoever was in charge at the time) say to two employees; one was to get ten watermelons and put them in a cart, and the other, who was a woman employee, was told to "watch the little girl in aisle 4."

At first what he said did not appear to me to be out of the ordinary until I looked around and there was no one in Aisle 4 but me.

I was appalled at the fact that the manager assumed that I would attempt to steal something from the store. I know that this is an isolated incident. However, this shows that although the prevalency of racism appears to have subsided in this country, the way we view people of different racial persuasions has not changed.

Collins' Plans Supported.
To the Editor of Town Topics:

Following is a copy of a letter I have written to the Princeton Regional Planning Board.

As an independent retailer dedicated to the present and future economic health of Princeton, I have to underscore for you my encouragement about the future possibilities for Princeton when Collins' Development Company actually went through with their commitment to purchase Palmer Square.

We have in that sizeable purchase by Collins a force of dynamic possibilities for the future economic health and unique identity for the whole

Gay People Princeton will meet Thursday at 8 at the Unitarian Church, Cherry Hill and State Roads, for a covered dish supper. Participants should bring a main dish, vegetable, salad, dessert or wine and may invite a friend. There will be a slide showing of previous years' canoe outings.

The Business and Professional Women's Club has awarded three scholarships to area high school seniors. This year, all three recipients are recent graduates of West Windsor-Plainsboro High School.

The $350 Louise Maas Nursing Scholarship, given in memory of a former club member to students interested in pursuing a career in the nursing profession, was presented to Karen Sutphen, who will attend Clemson University.

The $500 A. Myrtle Hensor Scholarship, granted this year for the first time, was awarded to Susan Edelman, who plans to attend Tufts University. Given in memory of a former club member, the scholarship is to assist students pursuing a career in the teaching profession.

of Princeton. But those possibilities will never be realized without the creative and positive encouragement of the Planning Board.

It is my belief that this board, in discharging its responsibility to the citizens of Princeton, must help Collins' Development in its effort to make a profitable success of its venture by overcoming the costly red tape of delay. Their success can only be all of our success.

If we cut their wings and make it difficult for them to give us their best, it can only cause future generations to question our own personal agendas and wonder why we didn't take a more responsible view of our own future and of their present by the way we discharged our responsibilities. We have a commitment in the present to think more creatively than has been our custom, in order to ensure that economic health and vitality for future generations of Princetonians.

That, to be sure, is not risk-free. But any effort to achieve the highest quality of goods and services has never been successful when the position is taken to play it safe and inhibit the proper investment of resources. You must act with courage to support adequate parking now before it is unaffordable in the future to have what is necessary to make the whole expenditure of effort successful.

We have a chance now to invest in the future, to overcome the perils of the past over-kill at the process of planning which only served to demoralize our efforts in the not-long-ago present. We the citizens and business people of Princeton look to you to be responsive to the needs of the future, all of our future's, by your actions of today.

"I Disagree."

To the Editor of Town Topics:

This letter is in response to the TOWN TOPICS editorial of July 8, which continued the paper's ardent support for the Collins Development plan for Palmer Square; and I hope, as an act of responsible journalism, that it will be published.

The principal argument given in your editorial in support of these commercial development proposals is that a Central Business District by nature entails "density," which recent development proposals merely enhance. Following this line of reasoning, your editorial gives us the useful knowledge that central Princeton is not a "bosky dell." But those opposed to the Collins plans do not deny the relative density intrinsic to towns as compared to surrounding countryside. The dispute involves a particular kind of density reflected in recent development proposals and its appropriateness to traditional conceptions of Princeton Borough. Those of us who oppose the recent development plans by outside commercial enterprises regard them as inappropriate to the town, as inextricably and unalterably changing its nature as a village.

From an observer's view, the support for this transformational development in Princeton seems to emanate from two sources, each employing logic which, I think, carried to its proper conclusion, leads to unanticipated and undesired consequences. These two groups include: (1) those merchants who believe such development will enhance their commercial success and (2) those local politicians who believe that greater public revenues will be generated by that success. Both of these beliefs, in the long term, are fallacious.

First, the merchants' view that greater urban density will enhance their commercial enterprises is correct — in the short run. But shortly thereafter, new commercial enterprises will occupy the newly-created space and the initial merchants will find themselves back where they started. Except that it won't be back where they started, for now, in place of a unique village, they will reside in a congested city, ruined by excessive development. Oh, the perils of short-sighted ambition!

The politicians who see in expanded development improved public resources (certainly not an unworthy object) are similarly self-deluded, though again, only in the long term. Initially, increased commercial development will expand public revenues; but growth in density will consume them, as more money is needed for expanded public services to accommodate the growth in numbers of people, automobiles, shops, streets, etc. Again we find ourselves back where we started, but worse, as in the name of misguided good intentions, we have unknowingly ruined a distinctive town.

I am not opposed to commercial development. But to preserve the precious distinction of Princeton, we must carefully select which kind of commercial entities we allow in this area.

That consists, I suspect, in two sections of the business community, residing on opposite ends of the enterprise scale. The first are small shops, usually those who have been here a while, who therefore wish to preserve the traditional small-town flavor of Princeton. The second are large national or international corporations, whose headquarters have been encouraged in the past, and whose executives, knowing the uniqueness of our town, also wish to preserve its distinctive qualities. This excludes those middle-range shops who seek expansion of the town (and, so they think, their profits) at the expense of our local heritage. And, yes, it certainly excludes outside real estate development corporations who casually enter our town and alter its nature, before moving on to the next innocent victim.

If Princetonians develop their Borough thoughtfully, they will ever enjoy the singular distinction of their town. If they don't, all associated with Princeton, including those in the past and future, will have cause for regret.

I Concur!

To the Editor of Town Topics:

Following is a copy of a letter I have sent to the Planning Board.

Enclosed please find a copy of the editorial by Katharine Bretnall in the current TOWN TOPICS. I concur!

She has stated the reasons for quickly approving the plans of Collins Development Corporation for the exciting expansion of Palmer Square with a marvelous completeness.

As a merchant, I certainly am aware of the need for a vital downtown area to allow for a continuing climate to attract the unique clientele which it has been our good fortune to serve.

Also, as a resident of Princeton for many years, I value the quality of living available to me here.

Again, I hope you will act with all deliberate speed in approving the concept.

THE COLORADO: One of the interpretive views of the Colorado River by Helen Schwartz, to be on view at Gallery 100 starting Monday.

ART In Princeton

SHOW BY SCHWARTZ

Gallery 100. Interpretive views of the Colorado River by Helen Schwartz will be on display at Gallery 100, 100 Nassau, starting Monday.

Mrs. Schwartz has based her collection on a single collographic image which she has developed in several modes, using color and line in a variety of combinations. The result is a series of geometric expressions of the Rocky Mountains in soft blues, greys, lavenders and similar cool, translucent tones.

These abstracted landscapes have been punctuated with linear accents, designed to form a visual counterpoint to the ragged mountain silhouette.

Work by Helen Schwartz is included in the permanent collections of the New Jersey State Museum, the Newark Museum, the Firestone Graphics Collection of Princeton University and other public and private collections. She has taught at the Princeton Adult School, the Princeton Art Association and Rider College, and is art critic for TOWN TOPICS. Mrs. Schwartz' book, "The New Jersey House," on domestic architecture in the state, will be published next year by the Rutgers University Press.

PAA PLANS WORKSHOP

In Making Paper. The Princeton Art Association and Mercer County Community College are offering a workshop, The Art of Handmade Paper, with artist-instructor Ande Lau Chen.

Scheduled for this Monday through Thursday at Mercer County Community College, the workshop is planned as an introduction to the techniques, materials, equipment, and tools used in the age-old art of making paper. Registration must be made through both the PAA and MCCC; for details call 921-9173.

The course will feature a "hands-on" approach to allow the student access to both classical and experimental approaches to papermaking: work with dyed paper pulp, laminating, embedding, embossing, casting and multiple couching. Also covered will be the history of eastern and western papermaking, moulds, presses, pulp preparation, sheet formation, drying and casting pulp.

The artist-instructor, Ande Lau Chen, has a BA from Colorado State College and an MA from Columbia University. She studied oriental brush painting in Honolulu and in New York City with Dong Kingman and papermaking at UCLA, in Japan, and at the International Papermaking Symposium in Honolulu. Her solo shows include, among others, Downtown Gallery, Honolulu;

WHWH to Broadcast Rutgers Football Games After Dispute with University Over Rights Fees

Princeton University and WHWH are parting company in a dispute rising out of the renegotiation of the rights to broadcast the Tigers' football and basketball games. The Princeton radio station will carry Rutgers football this fall, while the University is expected to announce an agreement with a new station soon.

"It is with deep regret that we have made this decision," said Herbert W. Hobler, president of the Nassau Broadcasting Co. "However, we could not accept the totally unexpected and unreasonable demands placed on us by the Director of Athletics of Princeton University.

"Not only were we being asked to pay three times as much for broadcast-rights to these games — the previous right-fees were already three times higher relatively than comparable broadcast situations elsewhere — but Athletic Director Bob Myslik was asking for permission to approve our sports-casting. team.

"We also were being asked to submit in writing proposals regarding promotion and advertising of these broadcast events.

"Lacking any explanation of why these impersonal requests were being made — a possible bidding situation was suggested — WHWH simply would not bend to these requests in spite of the exceptional interest of our staff and management in Princeton football and basketball over the years."

Commenting on Hobler's allegations, Myslik said the rights agreement between WHWH and the University has been unchanged for the last 10-15 years, not even adjusted for inflation, leaving the fees basically unchanged since the late 1960's. "This works out to a substantial increase in football, but is not the case in basketball," he said.

"Whether these fees are three times higher than comparable situations elsewhere depends on which of many figures you take into account in a rather complicated formula. It's open to various interpretations."

Quality Control At Issue. "However, the question of money is secondary," he continued. "It's not the fundamental issue.

"Ever since Howard David left, we felt we noticed a fairly substantial decline in the quality and continuity in the broadcasting of games. We weren't trying to dictate who should be hired, but we do feel we have a fundamental stake in the selection. We saw it as a kind of a general quality control.

"Herb came to the conclusion that we were trying to intrude too heavily into his business. He felt our position had hardened and didn't think we could work things out.

"It was a genuine disagreement that we both felt had to happen, but neither of us has closed the door to future collaboration."

WHWH has carried Princeton football and basketball every year since it first went on the air in September, 1963. It will now carry the entire Rutgers football schedule, beginning with the Syracuse-Rutgers Saturday night game on September 5, which opens the season. WCTC, New Brunswick, will be the originating station.

Myslik has been in contact with another radio station in this area about broadcasting the games, and an agreement may be signed this week. All Princeton home and away football and basketball contests are also carried by WPRB, the campus radio station.

POST 76 DOES IT

Defeats Hamilton, 7-6. Princeton Post 76 did what it had to do Saturday, something no other team had been able to in 14 previous games: defeat Hamilton Post 31.

Princeton's loosely-played 7-6 victory over league-leading Hamilton in 10 innings was a must win and kept the victors' chances of overhauling the leader alive. Two-thirds through the 30-game season, Princeton has a 15-3-2 record and 32 points in the Mercer County American Legion League, while Hamilton is 18-2 and has 36 points.

Princeton will play its final nine games in the next two weeks.

Next week it will play host to Lawrence Post 414 on Thursday, travel to the Broad Street Park Browns for a Saturday contest, entertain Hopewell Post 339 on Sunday at Princeton University's Clarke Field and face Bordentown Post 26 Tuesday in Bordentown.

The win over Hamilton was the third in a row for manager Pete Millington's team. Earlier in the week, Princeton topped Hightstown Post 148 behind John Majarwitz's three-hitter and before that scored three runs in the last inning to come from behind and nip Trenton Post 93, 6-5.

Errors (11) Dominate. Saturday's key contest with Hamilton figured to be a pitcher's duel between Steve White, who entered the game with a 6-0 mark, a stingy 0.38 ERA and who had shut the door against Princeton with a 4-hit, 4-0 shutout in their first meeting. Opposing White on the mound was Princeton's Andy Kulinski, unbeaten in five decisions, who owned a 0.94 ERA.

As it turned out, the battle was not waged on the mound but lost in the field, where each team tried to outdo the other in giving the game away. Most of the 13 runs were unearned.

Hamilton scored half its runs in the first without the benefit of a hit, taking advantage of four of Princeton's seven errors. Princeton tied it at 3 in the second, combining an infield error, Ron Kane's double, Chris Nolan's single which scored the second run and a walk with the bases loaded.

After scoring another unearned run in the fifth, Hamilton opened a 6-3 lead sixth, chasing Kulinski with a triple and a single. Mark Budd came on in relief of Kulinski, who had given up just one earned run. He stopped Hamilton from breaking the game open by forcing Gary Maccaroni to hit sharply to shortstop Brent Robinson, who turned the double play.

One of the most unusual baseball players of all-time was Wee Willie Keeler, who's in the Hall of Fame ... Keeler went through his entire big league career using, in effect, only half a bat ... Maybe more players should use only half a bat as Keeler did.

Princeton pushed two runs across in the seventh on Robinson's double, a two-base throwing error and wild pitch and tied it an inning later on another throwing error.

Princeton, which had reached White for 11 hits in nine innings, finally managed to send the Mercer County Community College hurler to his first defeat in the tenth.

With one out, Dan Miller's bloop double moved Kane, who had singled off White's leg, to third. Kane was cut down at the plate on Nolan's infield smash but Tom Scibetta, who is leading the league with a .437 average, singled to right after having gone 0-for-5.

Hamilton managed only five hits off Kulinski and Budd, while Princeton had 12, including three by Miller and two each by Nolan and Dan Arendas. A standout player at West Windsor High School, Arendas is the league's second best hitter with a .429 average. Others in the Princeton lineup among the batting leaders are Keith Phox, who is slugging the ball at a .393 clip, Robinson, with a .368 average, and first baseman Keith Ender, .353.

SAVINGS & LOAN SPONSORS SPORTS MEDICINE PROGRAM: Dr. John Tambascia, left, former chief of cardiology and chairman of the Coronary Care Unit at Princeton Medical Center, discusses details of a special sports medicine program for scholastic athletes with John R. The Savings & Loan is sponsoring the program to be held Thursday, July 23, at 9:30 a.m. at Princeton University, as a public service for school superintendents and their coaching and medical staff. Dr. Tambascia is a medical consultant to the Miami Dolphins football team.

2 Pitchers, 6 Hits. Both Majarwitz and Hightstown's Ed Kopf pitched three-hitters in Princeton's 3-1 victory Thursday, but the 76ers scored all their runs in the third.

After Scibetta and Robinson drew walks, Ender hit an infield chopper that left runners on third and first. Arendas's grounder plated Scibetta to tie the game at 1. John Kandell then singled home Ender with the winning run.

Princeton added a third when Judd Petrone, who had reached base on error, scored on a delayed double steal.

Judd Petrone got his third mound win against one setback earlier in the week, when Trenton was unable to protect a two-run lead in the last inning.

Following a leadoff single by Scibetta, Trenton manager Joe Guerra summoned in hard-throwing reliefer Andy Bobbitt to put out the fire. After retiring Robinson on an infield pop, an unexpected change-up on the heel of two fast-ball strikes brushed a surprised Ender in the back. Arendas followed with a single to cut the deficit to one run.

After Petrone had walked to jam the bases, Bobbitt's pitch in the dirt allowed the tying run to score. Trenton then went down to its 12th defeat when the return throw from the catcher sailed over Bobbitt's head at the plate, allowing Arendas to beat the return throw from second baseman Chris Chianese.

"We've fought back all year," said Millington after the game. "Their guy pitched a good game and we didn't hit that well, but we hung in there."

Princeton had six hits — two by Arendas — while Trenton had nine. Bobbitt (2-4) was charged with the loss.

Andy's trounced Rusty Scupper, 24-3, getting 15 runs in the third and seven more in the fourth to invoke the 15-run rule after five innings. Winning pitcher Joan Barton allowed just five hits, two by Nancy Trani. Tracey Armiger had three hits for Andy's, including a triple and homer, scored three runs and batted in four. Dee Vertucci, Maureen Nosal, Donna Woodruff, Karla Pullen, Carol Auster and Cindy Henderson all had a part in the assault by Andy's.

Its second win was a 7-0 forfeit over Ivy.

First-place Mike's roughed up winless Alchemist & Barrister, 23-2. Dee Pearce, Maureen Merrigan, Sallie Toscano all homered, as Lorraine Duthie picked up the easy win. Becky Schmierer had two hits and scored two runs for A&B.

Duthie then fashioned a three-hitter in blanking Princeton Indoor Tennis Center, 17-0. Pearce and Debbie Ficarro each belted a pair of triples, Ficarro batting 4-for-4, Mickey Morgan stroked three hits and scored three times. Kathy Shillaber, Toscano and Elizabeth Zingg all contributed two hits to the Mike attack.

Annex pitcher Ree Smurthwaite yielded three runs to Conte's in the first and seventh innings but shut the losers out in the middle five frames en route to a 10-6 win. She helped her own cause by collecting three hits in four appearances at the plate.

Annex's Lisa Jablonski counted a double and triple among her three hits, while Karen Petruska, Kim Bedesen and Marji Weinkop all contributed two hits apiece. Lynn Harkness and Karen Romano each stroked two hits for the losers.

A&B was Annex's second victim, falling 16-1 after Annex sent seven runs across in the sixth to invoke the 15-run rule and end the game. Bedesen doubled and had three hits for the victors, Jan Baker tripled and Carol Keys had two hits. Smurthwaite got the win again.

Koffe Kup Upset. In the week's most dramatic game, played earlier in the week, Princeton Indoor Tennis Center scored three runs in the last inning to tie Koffee Kup and then scored a run in the eighth for an 11-10 upset. Linda Bassett, who batted 3-for-5, including two triples, got the win. Hits off the bats of Shelly Hearne (four hits, including a double and triple) Colleen Cosgrove and Liz Cramp had enabled PITC to tie the game in the seventh. Grisham, Barbara Rice and Joanne Rice all clouted homers for KK.

Conte's Bar scored in every inning but two as pitcher Kathy Burroughs allowed just four hits. She also excelled at the plate, with two hits including a double, and scored three in leading the victors to a 16-2 win over Rusty Scupper. Joining the Conte hitting barrage were Carol Mazzella, Peggy Wood, Lainie Ivan, Karen Romano and Barbie Falcone. Joanne Hoover doubled for the Scupper.

Andy's Tavern won its seventh in a row, a 17-0 shutout of A&B. Winning pitcher Donna Woodruff allowed two hits — by Joanne Stuart and Libby Wert. Woodruff outhit the losers by collecting three in four at bats, scored three and drove in three. Also batting 3-for-4 were Barbara Griggs, Karla Pullen (homer, 4RBIs) and Judy Kroeper.

Ava Hino had two hits in three appearances. Andy's big inning was the second, when it sent eight runs across the plate.

First-place Mike's had to struggle, but it won its tenth, 5-2, over the Annex, as Duthie surrendered just four hits. Triples by Debbie Breithaupt and Carol Luidens and a Sallie Toscano double had staked Mike's to a 4-2 lead after four.

Kim Bedesen had two of the loser's four hits. The Annex loaded the bases in the last inning but could not score.

In games this Wednesday at 6:15 at Community Park, Andy's vs. Conte's; Annex vs. PITC, A&B vs. Koffee Kup and Ivy vs. Rusty Scupper.

The standings:

LACROSSE CLUB BEATEN in Division Finals. "It's no disgrace to lose to the best. We're pleased with how far we've gone; it's just a question of taking that next step."

For Kirk Unruh, above, coach of the New Jersey Lacrosse Club, that final step is being able to defeat the Long Island Lacrosse Club, its chief rival and a perennial club champion. Last month, for the second year in a row, the N.J. team bowed to Long Island in the northern division championship game, 14-12.

The following week, Long Island crunched southern division champion Mt. Washington, 21-12, to win the United States Club Lacrosse championship.

The game with Long Island was tied at 6 at the half. Then the Long Islanders opened a five-goal lead only to have New Jersey draw even again. In the closing minute, ahead by one goal, Long Island scored an insurance goal with 20 seconds left. Last year, New Jersey had lost to Long Island in the divisional championship game and in one regular season game by a total of three goals.

Steve Page led New Jersey with three goals and an assist. Peter Hollis and Michael Page each had two goals, also combining for three assists, while Peter Von Hoffman

"Once again it was awfully closed. We just can't seem to get by that Long Island club hurdle, but we hope to next year," observed Unruh. In his brief tenure, the New Jersey team has developed into a leading contender and one of the finest club lacrosse teams in the nation.

Michael Page Honored. Page, a midfielder on the New Jersey team, and a first team All American at the University of Pennsylvania, was honored by being named the 1981 U.S. Club Lacrosse Outstanding Player of the Year.

The Bernardsville resident and executive with Procter & Gamble was further honored by being selected to the 23-member 1982 U.S. World Team.

She served until 1945 on the staff of the commanding general, the Fleet Marine Force, San Diego, Calif., area at Camp Elliott and Camp Pendleton.

Dr. Rudolf Mach, a leading authority on Arabic manuscripts, died July 8 at his home at 215 Hartley Avenue. He was 58 and a professor of Near Eastern studies at Princeton University.

Dr. Mach had been a member of the Princeton faculty since 1955, when he was appointed lecturer and curator of Near Eastern manuscripts. He rose to professor in 1974, and in 1977 he relinquished his duties as curator to devote full time to teaching. During his tenure as curator, Princeton's Near Eastern collections became regarded as one of the world's finest.

An expert in Hebrew and an authority in Near Eastern philosophy and literature, he was equally at home in the related works of medieval Christian and classical authors.

Born in Prague, Czechoslovakia, Dr. Mach earned his Ph.D. degree in 1952 at the University of Basel, Switzerland, and his master of library science from the University of California at Berkeley in 1955.

Princeton awarded him a Faculty Research Grant in Regional Studies and International Affairs in 1963 and named him a Fellow of the Council of the Humanities in 1963-64 in order for him to work on his "Catalogue of Arabic Manuscripts (Yahuda Section) in the Garrett Collection, Princeton University Library," which was published in 1977 by Princeton University Press. At the time of his death he was working on "A Short Catalogue of Arabic Manuscripts in the Princeton University Library," also to be published by Princeton University Press.

BUG-OF-THE-WEEK

By J. Drew Foster, Entomologist

APHIDS

Inconspicuous and ever present, aphids (plant lice) usually go unnoticed until their damage has started. My following description is generalized, for there are nearly as many aphid species as there are plant species.

These are tiny sucking insects, ranging from about 0.05 - 0.12 inches. Their straw-like mouthparts pierce tender plant tissues (usually leaves and young stems) and they suck the plant sap. Sugars are extracted from the sap, and the remaining liquid is passed by the aphid. This liquid is called honeydew. Honeydew is a sticky material found on and under infested trees, shrubs, vegetables, etc. The honeydew often hosts sooty mold, a potentially harmful fungus that can block sunlight from covered leaves. Feeding damage can occur from loss of sap or by the injection by the aphid of a harmful virus.

Most aphids reproduce very rapidly during the summer by parthenogenesis. That is, they are all females, reproducing without mating. The aphids are born alive, and at birth already have another aphid forming within them. When overcrowded, winged aphids are produced that fly off to start other colonies. In the fall, both male and female aphids are produced. These mate and lay eggs which overwinter. Some aphids require one host, others require two. The apple grain aphid overwinters on flowering crabapple trees. It hatches and feeds for a short time in early spring, then flies to grain crops for the summer. In the fall it returns to the crabapples to lay overwintering eggs.

Tulip tree aphids, Norway maple aphids, and woolly beech leaf aphids have been troublesome for several weeks. Also, many vegetable plants are hosting aphids at this time.

Damage potential or real nuisance should be determined before sprays are applied, because aphids can easily develop resistance to overuse of some insecticides. On shade trees spraying is the only choice of control. Where aphids are a continual problem a dormant oil spray applied in early spring will smother the eggs. On occasional, serious outbreaks, insecticide sprays during the growing season are necessary for control.

Call us for plant pest control and pest management consultation.

Palmer Square

All benches now there will remain. Two trees will be added in the middle. The concrete sidewalk will be replaced by paving material. The hedge along the curb may, possibly, be removed.

Mr. Wheelock explained that there will be no trees along Palmer Square West, so that the building facades will show. It will be a pedestrian way, he emphasized, paved with sand-colored two-foot-square concrete blocks separated by bands of darker material. Cars will be allowed, but it will be clearly for pedestrians, he said.

Baskets filled with flowers will hang from the street lanterns. In the upper plaza behind the Nassau Inn, there will be a fountain whose waters will flow along the edges of the 110-foot-wide bridge over Hulfish, cascading down the sides of the steps at the ends of the bridge to be re-circulated.

Driving down Palmer Square East and under the Nassau Inn arcade, drivers will see an entrance to the deck-covered parking garage at the foot of the street. The entrance will be like a niche, and within it will be a fountain. Behind the fountain a hole in the deck will send light into the entrance. The deck top will be planted.

A Community Stage. The plaza behind the Nassau Inn will anchor the Square, he said. A colonnade will surround the plaza, incorporating a stage for community use. The design will allow outdoor presentations in summer, or productions in winter under a glass dome.

The deck will be so built that it could hold a four-foot-deep soil mix throughout, Mr. Wheelock told the board, adding that plans show large shade and evergreen trees. He stated that four and one-half feet of soil mix will support a 45-foot tree like honey locust or linden--"but not anything with a tap root."

Lighting--and Mr. Wheelock described "chandeliers with an intense, festive quality" along the foot of Palmer Square West, near the plaza and "festive" lights strung along the Nassau Inn's south terrace--would be quiet and low-key in residential sections.

In fact, residential and retail areas would be separated by different landscaping and lighting treatments. Board members asked whether residents of the condominiums that ring the project could keep "undesirable intruders" out of their walkways or patios.

The question is not a frivolous one. Borough Engineer George Olexa has said that the Planning Board should decide whether certain areas meet the Borough's definition of "public open space."

If the board decides that spaces in the two residential areas in the north are "open space," and if the Hulfish bridge--which is in the public right-of-way--can be counted as "open space," then Collins meets the Borough's requirement of 25 percent open space. If the board thinks otherwise, then Collins is short.

So, theoretically, if your patio or quiet walkway is public open space, you can't chase anybody out. Architect Do Chung playfully said there would be irrigation devices in these areas: just turn on the water.

Wayne Patterson, Collins' engineer, said the firm would provide new storm drains and sewer lines along Hulfish, replacing the old sewer line, and would remove an "inadequate" four-inch water main and install a 12-inch one, as a fire safety measure.

George Jacquemart, of the Voorhees firm, began his traffic report and will continue it Thursday. He said that with Collins' revised plans, traffic is "up to 10 percent" less.
